Italian Named "Sam" Sought As Slayer of Man Found in Automobile Near Confluence

Sheriff of Somerset County Learns Crime Was Committed at Silbaugh.

BODY TAKEN SIX MILES

Story at Confluence Is That Foreigners Blamed Dead Man for Plan to Expose Them; Philippi Himself
Reported to Have Been in Traffic.

Special to The Courier.
CONFLUENCE, Nov. 23.—Sheriff H. L. Griffiths of Somerset county, investigating the murder of William Philippi, whose body was found in his automobile, which had been run over an embankment, on Wednesday evening, today learned that the man was shot by an Italian at the home of a man named Rush at Silbaugh Settlement.

The sheriff and others went to the Philippi funeral to make an investigation. He returned to Confluence with Rush, who denied any connection with the shooting but said the Italian, whom he could only identify by the name "Sam," was guilty. Rush said Sam was a roomer at his home. He declared he was in bed when he heard the shot fired, but said his brother, who has not been seen yet, was in the room where the murder occurred. He said Sam and Philippi had quarreled and the shooting followed. The body was found at a spot six or eight miles distant from where the shooting took place.

Orders were received from the district attorney of Somerset county to hold up the funeral ceremonies until a probe could be made for the bullet that caused death.

A search of the house disclosed a barrel of moonshine whiskey. It was disposed of by knocking in the head of the barrel.

It was said the man wanted had been in Confluence today.

CONFLUENCE, Nov. 23.—Arrests were expected this afternoon in the murder of William Philippi, whose body was found in an automobile along the Confluence-Somerset road near Brooks tunnel Wednesday evening.

Sheriff H. L. Griffiths of Somerset and County Detective Leckmeyer of Meyersdale, accompanied by Justice of the Peace W. S. Bower of Confluence, went to the Silbaugh Church settlement today to attend the funeral of the murdered man and to investigate the crime.

The sheriff planned to have a further examination of the body. It was rumored here that foreigners engaged in bootlegging are suspected of being implicated in the killing. It was said they feared Philippi planned to expose them. There are numerous stories abroad, one involving the murdered man in the illegal liquor traffic.

It was said that Philippi carried an expensive .38 calibre revolver. He was missing when his body was found. It was said also that a sum of money was missing. It was reported to be $25 to $30.

The funeral, originally set for 10 o'clock this morning, was postponed until 2. Then during the morning funeral Director C. H. Humbert refused a word that the hour had been changed to 11.

The Silbaugh Church is located near Dunas.

Woman of 87 Burns Herself to Death

NUTLEY, N. J., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Mary Moore, 87, apparently dependent on the loss of her husband, two daughters and three sons in the past 15 years, saturated her clothing with kerosene and ignited it on the porch of her home here last night.

Her charred body was found by members of the family who searched for her when she failed to appear after several hours.

Cat Saves Lives Pittsburg Family

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Stella Ankowsky and her four children owe their lives today to the family cat, a piercing cry this morning awoke them and enabled them to flee from their burning home in Forsythe road, Aracune. The house and its contents are destroyed.

Chamber Cheers Polaris.
PARIS, Nov. 23.—There can be no peace in Europe if the Hohenzollerns are restored to power in Germany, Premier Poincaré declared in the number of Deputies this afternoon. He deputies leaped to their feet and cheered madly in response to the premier's words.

Supervisors to Meet.
GREENSBURG, Nov. 23.—The annual county convention of the supervisors and auditors of Westmoreland county will be held at the courthouse Tuesday, November 27.

Man Beaten to Death Before Invalid Wife

By United Press.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 23.—Police directed by Sheriff Earle Brown are today hunting the city for a masked man who last night killed Dunne Chapel, 44, in the presence of his invalid wife. Mrs. Chapel, unable to move, saw her husband clubbed to death. She could offer no motive.

Chapel was sleeping on a couch in his home at Maple Plain, near here, when the murderer entered. Without a word he went to the couch, raised his club and struck his victim. As Chapel rolled to the floor the man struck another blow and fled.

Three hours later Guy Chapel, 24, a son, returned home. He found his mother almost unconscious.

Mother and son were housed in the county jail last night and questioned for several hours. The woman gave a description of the masked murderer.

It was the second tragedy in the family. A little more than four years ago a 14-year-old daughter was stabbed to death by an insane half-brother of Chapel.

MABELLE G. COREY IS DIVORCED FROM FORMER STEEL TRUST HEAD

By United Press.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Mabelle Gilman Corey, former musical comedy actress in the United States, obtained a divorce Thursday from her millionaire husband, William E. Corey, Mrs. Corey charged desertion.

When Corey married Mabelle Gilman he was president of the United States Steel Corporation at the highest salary ever paid an industrial executive. In order that he might marry the actress, with whom he had become infatuated during the time she played an engagement in Pittsburgh, he prevailed upon his wife to obtain a divorce.

The first Mrs. Corey was a Bradstock girl, Laura Cook, whom he married while a coal miner earning $40 a month.

He was ambitious and his wife was a valuable aid in his climb to fortune. She bore him several children.

Corey was an important factor in the Carnegie Steel Works at Pittsburgh when he was 22 years of age.

Shortly after he met Mabelle Gilman he followed her to New York—in fact he had established a home there and it was soon known that Mabelle Gilman had captured the head of the steel trust.

Corey sent her abroad early in 1909 to study for grand opera. She attracted a lot of attention in Europe and Corey visited her a couple of times. He had determined to marry her and to clear the way for the ceremony he asked his wife to obtain a divorce.

Mrs. Corey, although still in love with her husband, complied. She obtained a divorce in Reno in July, 1906. It was stated at the time that Corey settled $1,000,000 on her and arranged for the fortunes of the children as they came of age.

Corey was married to Laura Cook, December 1, 1883, when she was 17. After the divorce, which was obtained in Reno, July 30, 1906, the first Mrs. Corey lived with her mother at Swanton, N. Y.

On July 10, 1914, she was married to Leon A. Duckworth, manager of a New York piano concern.

Probably no woman under similar circumstances ever received wider sympathy than did the first Mrs. Corey during the divorce proceedings at Reno.

MINE WORKERS OFFICIAL SEES NO GENERAL STRIKE

By United Press.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 23.—Except in a few isolated instances, there are no indications that operators of the Pittsburgh District either desire or are planning to precipitate another nationwide bituminous coal strike next spring, when the present agreement expires, declared P. T. Fagan, president of District No. 6, United Mine Workers, yesterday, on his return from Indianapolis to a meeting of the international board of the miners.

The next convention of the United Mine Workers of America, for the assembling of which, on January 22 in Indianapolis, International President John L. Lewis is expected to send out a call shortly, will determine the course of the mine workers.

Certain action by some of the larger coal companies, including the action of the Pittsburgh Coal Company, largest single coal producing company in the Pittsburgh district, in rejecting the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, the chief operators' association for this district, is said to have cut in part the prophecy made by Atlantic City a day or two ago by L. A. Sneed, assistant to the United States fuel administrator during the war, and now president of a coal company, that next spring would see "the most serious bituminous coal strike in the history of the country."

11 Children No Liability If They Can Dance, Says Greek Mother of Odd Troupe

MRS. CHARRISS AND HER TROUPE OF 11 CHILDREN, GREETING THE STATUE OF LIBERTY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Question: When does a liability become an asset.

"When starvation stares you in the face!" is the reply of Mrs. Calliope Charriss, who stopped ashore at Ellis Island at the head of a troupe of 11 children, all her own.

Mrs. Charriss's husband was stricken with paralysis two years ago, and Mrs. Charriss found herself with 13 mouths to feed.

"We shall dance!" she declared. "Then we shall starve," their mother replied. They danced, and now are booked for a tour of the United States at a figure that precludes any possibility of starvation for some time to come.

POLISH BANDIT TAKES PAINS IN FILING HIS RETURN OF INCOME TAX

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 23.—

Civil duties trouble the conscience of Macho, the famous Polish bandit, much more than do robbery and sundry other crimes.

He recently made out a complete income tax return, giving date and place of each robbery with the amount realized in each case, and sent it to the authorities with his income tax.

Masontown Organizes Trade Body

MASONTOWN, Nov. 23.—Filled with the ambition to forge farther to the front and for the purpose of promoting bridge and building improvements and to invite the location of industrial plants, Masontown has formed a permanent board of trade. P. H. Ralston is president; H. A. Johnson, vice-president; E. P. Duncomb, secretary and treasurer. It is the intention to secure a paid secretary.

President Ralston has been a resident of Masontown for more than 20 years and has been identified with a number of enterprises about the town and has a reputation as one of the town's stalwart citizens. He was the unanimous choice for president.

Mr. Johnson, who was elected vice-president, is engaged in the undertaking business. He, too, has been a resident of the town for more than 20 years and is one of its leading citizens; a man of broad vision and a booster.

The treasurer, Mr. Duncomb, is engaged in the realty business, at which he has become prosperous.

The Masontown Brewing Company in contemplating converting its plant for other business and within a few months will be employing a large number of persons, it was announced.

People of the town look forward to this becoming one of the leading towns along the Monongahela River between Fairmont and Pittsburgh.

Ben Younkin's Funeral to Be Held Sunday

Funeral services for Benjamin R. Younkin, 23 years old, who died at the Connellsville State Hospital early yesterday morning from wounds inflicted the day before when Jacob K. Poltz fired five shots into his body, will be held at the family residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Francis J. Scott, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, of which Younkin was a member, will officiate. Interment will be in the Chestnut Hill Cemetery.

The body was taken to the home, 615 Highland avenue, last evening by Funeral Director J. E. Ham, to whose parlors it was removed after death occurred at the Connellsville State Hospital.

The slayer, Jacob K. Poltz, of Dunbar, was removed to the county jail in Uniontown yesterday afternoon. An information, charging murder, was made by Chief of Police Peter M. Murphy before Alderman W. D. Colborn.

Poltz expressed sorrow for the death of the man he shot but maintained that the mental anguish he underwent when he learned, as he believed, of the love affair between his wife and Younkin drove him to the deed.

At the police station Poltz said he had no weapon when he came to Younkin Saturday night to see Younkin. The latter was not at the garage of the Hyatt Motor Company, where he was foreman, at the time and there was no parking. It was when Poltz returned Wednesday morning that the shooting occurred.

Poltz said if he had found Younkin last Saturday night the tragedy would possibly have been averted.

W. Cooke McKean of Uniontown will be attorney for Poltz when his trial comes up. Poltz's wife was with him here up until the time he was taken to the county jail.

C. D. A. Supper.

Fashion Demands Drapes

For many a year suits have been the mainstay of the up-to-date woman's wardrobe, but this fall fashions cloth dresses displacing their supremacy. One of these handsome rivals of the suit is pictured above, made of tulle in a dark color and brightened with embroidery in several colors. Its striking new style features are a high turn-over collar, long bell sleeves and ankle-length skirts with side panels attached along one of their edges.

E. West, Mrs. W. E. Kellar and Mrs. Emma Richter. Refreshments were served by a committee composed of Mrs. J. H. Binkler, Mrs. Jacob Brickman, Mrs. Charles Brathwaite and Mrs. Louis Robbins. Plans for the chicken and waffle supper were discussed.

Woman's Culture Club.
The regular meeting of the Woman's Culture Club will be held Monday afternoon in the club rooms in the Carnegie Free Library. A program on "Literature and Art" will be presented. There will be a meeting of the executive committee at the close of the regular session. Thanksgiving dance this evening in the hall.

Greenwood Women Meet.
Women of the Greenwood Methodist Episcopal Church met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Horwick in East Murphy avenue to sew for the Christmas bazaar. A similar meeting will be held next Tuesday night at the Horwick home to complete the sewing for the bazaar. Refreshments will be served by the hostess.

Unity Frat Dance Tonight.
The Unity Fraternity will hold its Thanksgiving dance this evening in the Kiwanis Club rooms. A number of guests from out of town are expected at the affair, which will be an informal one. The fraternity will hold no more dances until December 25, when a matinee affair will be held at the State Armory.

Kellogg's Bran gives permanent relief because it is ALL BRAN!

Every member of your family will enjoy better health—out better, wicker better, sleep better—if they eat Kellogg's Bran regularly. Its natural, positive work for health is actually a blessing to humanity. Kellogg's gives permanent relief from constipation because it is ALL BRAN! It is scientifically prepared to relieve suffering humanity from constipation. Kellogg's Bran cleans and purifies the intestinal tract; it clears away toxic poisons and frees you from the dangers of many deadly diseases, not only from sick headache, rheumatism and mental and physical depression. A week's trial of this great nature food will prove that its work for health is wonderful! Consider Kellogg's Bran as a food. It is not a laxative nor a medicine. Bran is the outer coating of whole wheat and contains such nourishing factors as mineral salts and other elements vital in sustaining life! Kellogg's Bran is cooked and all ready to eat. It is delightful as a cereal, or sprinkled over your favorite hot or cold cereal. Another popular way to eat it is to cook or mix it with a hot cereal. In preparation, add two tablespoonsful of bran for each person. Delicious bakery batches are made with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes are printed on each package. DO TWO THINGS—Eat Kellogg's Bran each day for permanent relief from constipation and be certain to eat at least two tablespoonsful; in chronic cases, with each meal. First-class hotels, clubs and restaurants serve Kellogg's Bran in individual packages. Ask for it at your restaurant. All grocers.

by the Mozart Club, at a meeting at the home of Miss Margaret Dull in South Pittsburgh street, for a musical to be given at the second meeting in January and open to the public. Robert L. Werner, choral director, returned the club in several choruses. Miss Lella Colborn, Mrs. J. H. Gibson and Mrs. H. E. Mason were named a committee on program for the next year. Mrs. Mason was leader of the evening. On the program were: Quartet, "A Song of Gratitude," Miss Margaret Dull, Miss Pearl Kock, Robert L. Werner and H. E. Mason; vocal solos, "Song is Sweet," and "I Cannot Help Loving You," Miss Mabel Wilt; piano solos, Mrs. Charles F. Hilt; piano solos, Mrs. Harry Williams; vocal solo, "Song of Thanksgiving," Mrs. Clarence McCormick; current events, Mrs. H. R. Gibson.

Annual Turkey Dinner.
Ninety-six persons were served at the annual dinner of the Goodwill Sunday School last evening at the church—a turkey dinner. Dr. G. W. Gallagher was the speaker of the occasion. His subject being, "Present Day Dangers," a discussion of the moral trend of the times. Counselman C. M. Stone was co-master. Talks were made also by G. D. Osterweine, teacher of the class, and the pastor, Rev. J. H. Bridgman. John Kelly gave readings. A solo quartet sang. There were numbers by an orchestra directed by Lee Hoover. Wives of the members of the class were guests. The dinner was served by the Win One Class.

Will Attend Dance.
A number of guests from Connellsville will attend a dance to be given tonight at the Gallatin Gardens, Uniontown, by Curran No. 9, of Crawford.

Plaska-Watersky.
Miss Veronica Plaska, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Plaska of Uniontown, and John Watersky, of Uniontown, were married Tuesday morning in St. Mary's Church, Uniontown, by Rev. Father Schick. The bride was employed in the grocery department of the Wright-Morley store, Uniontown, previous to her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Watersky will reside at Uniontown.

Pythian Sisters Organize.
One hundred applicants were balloted on and accepted at the organization of a Pythian Sisters Lodge at Star Junction last evening. Among the Connellsville women attending were Mrs. William McGehee, Mrs. Ida Armstrong, Mrs. Eliza Holt, Mrs. Ada Whaley, Mrs. Schick, Mrs. Mrs. Grover McClintock, Mrs. Cora Feather, Mrs. Charles Bishop, Mrs. Jack Torrence, Mrs. Roy Brown, Mrs. Ada Trevis, Mrs. Jacob Sniley, the last named of Uniontown, all members of Friendship Temple No. 25. Guests were also present from Uniontown, Brownsville, Belle Vernon and Fayette City.

Unity Fraternity to Meet.
The regular meeting of the Unity Fraternity will be held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Kate Ritchey in North First street, West Side.

Calumet Baking Powder

BEST BY TEST

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Calumet is called "Best by Test" because actual baking tests are made right in the big Calumet factories—the largest of their kind on earth. Master bakers and a renowned domestic science expert make these tests which protect the quality and uniformity of Calumet.

Calumet is called "the World's Greatest Baking Powder" because it is used by more housewives—more chefs—more railroads—more restaurants—more hotels than any other brand.

Calumet is called the "Economy Baking Powder" because no other brand on the market will produce bakings at such a low cost. Its dependable and unfailing action means no loss of time, money or materials.

Calumet is called for in thousands of stores daily because a better leavener cannot—and is not made—because a large can contains full 16 ounces and some brands come in 12 ounce cans—once tried it is always used.

HALF MILLION MEN IDLE AND NO JOBS IN SIGHT IN JAPAN

Bush for Men After Earthquake Subsided as Factories Are Shut Down.

FACE SERIOUS PROBLEM

By CLARENCE DUBOSE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

TOKYO (By Mail to United Press)—It's going to be a hard winter in the Tokyo-Yokohama district. Half a million men are out of work—and there are no jobs in sight.

The employment situation changed completely a few weeks after the earthquake. At first there was an abundance of work. Any man who wanted a job could get it—skilled and unskilled labor—and in each case at higher wages than before. Officials predicted that the demand for labor would far exceed the supply for a long time to come. "There will be no unemployment problem," they said. But thousands of refugees, who left Tokyo during and just after the disaster, began to return. Workmen from other towns and cities flocked to Tokyo, some of them walking long distances. And at the same time factories and big industries that had as first thought they could carry on, discovered that they could not. They had to close or to dismiss a large part of their employees, operating on a much smaller basis than before.

With transportation non-existent or so disrupted as to be commercially useless they found no matter how resolute their purpose that business as usual was impossible. On top of this the big dock and shipyards, industrial plants and spinning mills in the devastated area, many of which were destroyed or greatly damaged, turned into the Tokyo market tens of thousands of workmen.

The sum total of these sources has simply glutted Tokyo with jobless. Many thousands of coolies are at work throughout the city piling up debris, shoveling aside enough wreckage to permit passageways through former streets, carting off junk, cleaning away spaces for the erection of temporary wooden shacks. Soldiers are dynamiting the standing walls of wrecked and gutted buildings—walls which are a menace with each succeeding earthquake shock. Carpenters are in great demand because wooden shod-Nko structures, temporary barracks and shacks are the only buildings permitted now—and the only buildings that will be allowed for six months or more.

Not until the plan for rebuilding Tokyo can be formulated, which will be a matter of some months, will the authorities permit the erection of any permanent structure.

So, for the present, carpenters and some of the other building craftsmen are the only workmen who do not over-supply the market.

The government officials hope that the present situation is a "peak" in the post-earthquake uncertainties; that before long factories can take on more hands; that the cleaning-up of the devastated areas will give more employment than at present. Meanwhile, emergency employment bureaus are attempting to get some of the unemployed away from Tokyo—but there is not much hope in that direction because unemployment is reported in Osaka and Kobe and other cities, also.

Confluence

CONFLUENCE, Nov. 23.—Some nice porkers are being slaughtered here. G. E. Cunningham, who suffered a stroke several days ago, is still in a very serious condition.

K. Thomas of Swarthmore, who has been visiting his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Meyers, has gone to Pittsburgh to visit friends for a few days.

Ellis Hall of Spocquer, W. Va., was a recent visitor with his father, I. L. Hall and brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hall.

Several persons from Confluence who were witnesses in the Keldel case in court at Somerset have returned home.

Dr. H. P. Meyers has returned from a business visit to Pittsburgh. Mrs. W. B. Dewars went to Somerset yesterday to visit friends.

Mrs. Alice Duckworth has returned to her home in Jeannette after a visit with her sister, Mrs. N. F. Bowlin and other relatives and friends here.

Revival meetings are in progress at the Johnson Chapel Methodist Episcopal Church.

Quite a number of Baltimore & Ohio railroad employees, who were witnesses in court in Uniontown have returned home.

Mrs. Irvin Miller, who had been very ill, is improved. Ray Forquer of Addison was here yesterday transacting business.

POSSIBILITIES IN RAILROAD
CONSOLIDATIONS.

The proposed consolidation of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Reading with the Baltimore & Ohio, as outlined in the plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission for a general consolidation of the roads into a small number of systems, has aroused much more discussion in the east than elsewhere in the territory served by the Baltimore & Ohio.

In New York and Philadelphia especially public interest has been aroused to a considerable degree because of the possible effect such a merger would have upon the traffic delivered at these ports. The issues involved are given still more importance by the fact that the New York Central and its interests and friends are conducting a very vigorous campaign in opposition to the plan and for the not altogether solid purpose of having this system substituted for the Baltimore & Ohio in the consolidation scheme. Such a substitution would give to the former railroad almost complete control of the terminal facilities in the city and port of New York and entrance into Philadelphia, which it does not now reach. At the same time the Baltimore & Ohio, which reaches Jersey City under a traffic agreement with the Reading and the Jersey Central, would be placed at a decided disadvantage in its New York service.

As the scope of the proposed merger becomes better understood it is apparent that, if carried through, it will result in some very material changes at points on the Baltimore & Ohio. Thus, as is currently reported, through freight from the west will be cleared from the Pittsburgh and Connellsville divisions over a cut-off to be formed by utilizing the tracks of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh
as a connecting link between the Baltimore & Ohio at Butler and the Reading at a point farther east. This will give a low grade line and shorter haul than through Pittsburgh, Connellsville and Cumberland to the seaboard. In that particular it will largely increase the advantages of the Baltimore & Ohio as a through carrier.

While this immediate section is interested in everything that adds to the facilities of the Baltimore & Ohio, and other railroads as well, in serving the public, the proposal to establish the Butler cut-off cannot be regarded as helpful to Connellsville. Diversion of through freight from the Pittsburgh district over the Butler cut-off will mean that the trains now assigned to that service, and who have their heads in Connellsville and other points on the local divisions, will have to move to New Castle or Butler. In that event the only part of the transportation force necessary to be retained here and elsewhere on the division would be the men forming the crown in local service. Such a dependence on our railroad population would very certainly be felt by the business interests of the city and the community generally would be deprived of a group of very estimable and useful citizens.

Whether there would be compensation through the development of another of the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation schemes or not remains to be seen, and even if it should develop, it would take considerable time. According to the commission's schedule of mergers the Western Maryland is to be crowded into a system which is to include the construction of a line from Connellsville westward. This whole project is so far indefinite and without plans, so far as the public is aware, for carrying it through. It seems certain, however, that the next few years will witness some very important changes with respect to the constitution of railway systems. It is to be hoped they will be of such character that the importance of Connellsville as a traffic producing center will continue to be recognized and that opportunities will not be lacking, or fail to be utilized, to increase that importance.

When that rival power development, near Friendsville is completed, the Cheating of the Young as a power center ought to stop.

Although they work under the cover of darkness Dunbar's burglars succeeded fairly well in keeping the Pursue Town in the bright light of publicity.

It is probably safe to assume that before it becomes effective there will be more than one but in that plan to develop the Butler cut-off as a through freight route from the west for the B. & O.

PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANTS

(Lawrence Martin, Washington manager of the United Press and recognized as one of the best political writers of the country, has prepared a series of sketches of the principal aspirants for nomination for President at the Democratic and Republican conventions which will meet next June to name their respective standard bearers. The Democratic candidates form the first group of the series.)

WILLIAM G. MCADOO.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Copyright 1923 by The United Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Lincoln

William G. McAdoo presents one of the most interesting personalities

among the group of aspirants for the Democratic nomination for President.

Put McAdoo in outdoor clothes—

flannel shirt, broad soft hat, knee-

length laced boots and khaki breeches—and set him astride a horse—and you have a figure that fits instantly

into the great outdoors. You recognize him instantly as one of those bolings a logan would call a "Red

Man." He seems to belong to the great outdoors, and you couldn't imagine him cramped into blue serge

and the narrow limits of office walls.

Put him into blue serge and, an office and you'll find a suave person with charming smile on his long,

plain, strongly marked face—clearly,

you'll say, a man used to affairs and

been to educate persons out of school

how they may be more useful in promoting the best interests of the schools by better understanding their methods and needs.

Have you considered that but 35

shopping days remain between now and Christmas?

The Wrong Road

Baltimore Evening Sun.

Governor Flinchot is engaged in the very laudable effort of defeating the laws of economics and human nature

in the matter of coal prices by means of conferences, statutes and other political devices. He may or may not have an experience similar to that of King Canute.

When a man or set of men has something which many other men want and can get nowhere else, the latter bid high for it and the owners charge the top price that the market will bear. They may not be equitable,

but it is the invariable law of human nature since the owners are. The

would-be possessor has the alternative of taking it by force, i. e., a confiscation, paying the price or instituting a buyer's strike.

So long as men will pay the present high prices for hard coal they admit that the coal is worth to them

what they pay—otherwise they would find a substitute or do without. The fact is, the development of substitutes

for anthracite is proceeding, and the market for them increasing. When people have learned to use oil, gas,

bituminous coal and various combinations of heat-producing substitutes

and can do so at an equal or lesser cost than anthracite, the price of hard coal will drop and there will be a sound economic basis for the price

reduction. Monkeying with the market only serves to postpone the use of such substitutes.

Until there is some such basis, we four that the political ballyhoo and

"price-fixing" methods of Governor

Flinchot will not be notably successful.

PATRIOTISM.

One need not hate an alien land to be

I hold my country first, and make

By all the strength which God has given me,

I never raise my eye nor flag to see that my love and gratitude are shown.

A fuller banner winds have never blown.

Above a temple spire or ship at sea.

Yet I can breathe my love of this, my land.

And about the blessings which have made me great,

Rejoice that I am here and that I stand.

Each day within the shelter of her arms.

Can give her all my love and service.

When a man's man you will find, my

When a man's man you will find his

An Adaptable Chap.

All of which is to say that McAdoo is an adaptable chap. His democracy seems just as real to the people who meet him indoors as to those who meet him outdoors in city streets.

Everybody notices two things about

McAdoo on meeting him for the first time—his eyes and his smile. The eyes are deep-set, fairly far apart, and are capable of lightning changes of expression. Sometimes they give him

the fierceness of an eagle, more commonly they are just plain, friendly with a quizzical hint of a grin, interesting. The smile is a big, broad, wholesome one, right next door to a grin. It seems to admit you to a friendship. The smiling mouth, like the friendly eyes has a trick, though, of grimacing, backed up by a long, hard

looking jaw that speaks of the fighter

as the strong pose and the set of the cheek. He has a pair of broad, brown capable hands, first-class, either for handshaking or for working with a hammer.

There is a vein of poetry in this man's makeup. He expresses it by the way he looks at things. Whether he is envisioning the building of a tunnel under a mighty river, the running of vast railroad systems or the organization of a political campaign, there is an imperious sweep to his imagination. He has the knack or gift of seeing big, broad principles plus essential details. This is the onlything that he gets a great deal of fun out of his work.

McAdoo Independent.

Politically, McAdoo is one of the most independent men in America

when it comes to something he thinks demands independence. There have been all sorts of stories of quarrels between him and his distinguished father-in-law, Woodrow Wilson,

because, so it is reported, McAdoo differed with Mr. Wilson about the League of Nations. These stories are probably largely, if not entirely, bunk.

Not that McAdoo wouldn't dare to differ with even so august a person

as Mr. Wilson. He must certainly would differ with anybody rather than subordinate his convictions to his own survival of a given situation had given him.

In 1920 McAdoo refused to allow himself to be seriously considered before the Democratic national convention as a candidate. He could not prevent his friends in that convention

from voicing their enthusiasm for him, but he convinced his closest friends that he was doing what he thought best. His highly trained mind,

his keen powers of observation, his political cunning, told him what was coming and he refused to throw away

an effort that might with better effect

for himself and his party be reserved for another year. That's just another reason why, right now, he is leading the field in the Democratic

NEWS OF DAY AT MOUNT PLEASANT BRIEFLY RELATED

Joseph L. Brown and Mrs. Mary Gibbons Called by Death Messenger.

ROLL CALL COMING ALONG

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Nov. 23.—Joseph Leonard Brown, 52 years old, of Bridgeport street, died at the Memorial Hospital following an operation. The body was taken by Funeral Director J. W. Reichman to the Brown home. Mr. Brown is survived by his wife and the following children: Joseph G. Brown, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Mary Leonard, Scottsdale; Thomas, Nellie, Elizabeth, Catherine, Agnes and John, at home. The funeral service will be held at the St. Joseph's Church Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, in charge of Rev. John Mackett, and interment will be made in Scottdale Cemetery.

Mrs. Mary Gibbons Dies.
Mrs. Mary Gibbons, 55 years old, died Thursday at her home in Shupe street. She is survived by her husband, Patrick Gibbons, and the following children: Mrs. William Mullins, Mount Pleasant; Mrs. Joseph Keller, Clairton; Mrs. Joseph Madras, Clairton; Mrs. J. Borgan, Morgantown, W. Va.; Martin and William, at home. The funeral service will be held at St. Joseph's Church on Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, in charge of Father John Mackett, and interment will be made in St. Joseph's Cemetery.

Infant Dies.
Funeral services were held Wednesday morning for Charles Zema, the three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Zema of the Duncan Plan. Interment was made in the Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Roll Call Progresses.
Prof. John C. Haberlin, chairman of the Red Cross drive, still has the drive in progress and to date has 450 subscriptions, with the work nearly complete. The canvass has been successfully conducted by the Junior and senior girls.

Little Club Entertained.
Miss Adeline Suter of East Main street entertained the Little Club at the regular business and social meeting on Wednesday evening. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

Fireworks Meeting.
A "brother meeting," held before an open fireplace in the social room of the Re-Union Presbyterian Church on Wednesday night, was the second of a series of devotional services and was in charge of J. P. Workman, ruling elder. The subject was "Religion and Civic Life." The address was delivered by Mr. Weston. A number of others took part. The first meeting a month ago was in charge of Dr. Marsh and the subject was "Religion and Health." The next will be in January on "Religion and Business," and will be led by Mr. R. George.

Big Game Set.
On Wednesday night, November 23, will be the real basketball game of the season as far as the Mount Pleasant Independent team is concerned. This evening the Mount Pleasant Independents will play the Scottsdale Independents with Spirko, Bobbe, Holmes, Guest, Myers and Fitzpatrick in the line-up, will meet the Scottsdale Independents with the following line-up: Bullock, Night, Moley, Toney, Hames and Lester.

United Here.
The Mount Pleasant Superior football team will play United on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Crope Again for Children

Wool crope and silk crope, too, are popular fashions for little girls' dresses. And sometimes the two are combined as in the little frock illustrated, where a light-colored bodice is set on to a darker skirt. Little buttons, placed in groups and a bridled sash finish it.

HEAR MOANS IN MOUNTAINS

Popular Sounds Heard in the Chilean Andes—Peak in England Scarcely.

A deep note to be heard at certain seasons of the year proceeding from the mountain of El Brumader, in the Chilean Andes, is one of the weirdest sounds in the world. In former days the natives listened to it with superstitious fear, while even a white man, hearing it for the first time, is startled at the mountain's "howl."

Another curious mountain sound is heard in Nevada, though this one usually gives out a note resembling at first the jingling of bells, and ending with a deep, organ-like swell.

In both cases the sounds are due to a peculiar formation of the earth, which under certain conditions of weather allows the separate particles to rub against each other and so produce uncanny effects.

In England is a mountain which howls in such a way that formerly it was supposed to be the haunt of demons. This is Oress Fell, in West-Devonshire, where local conditions produce a gale with several peculiarities, including an awe-inspiring scream that at times can be heard for miles.

A Chagrined Sea Fighter.

Outside the harbor of Charlotte Amalie, on the coast of St. Thomas Island, a huge rock looms out of the sea. Sail Boats it is called, and it bears a startling resemblance to a ship. As I gazed upon it, says Mr. A. Myatt Verrill in his book "In the Wake of the Buccaneers," I could not blame the belated captain of a French frigate who a century and more ago sighted the rock one night and, mistaking it for a privateer, ran close and hailed it. He responses came back. Again he hailed, and as still no response came he blasted a broadside at the shadowy mass. Back came the echoing thunder of the cannonade, and the rebounding shot, falling on the frigate's deck convinced the Frenchman that the privateer was returning his fire.

For hours the battle raged; the French gunners poured broadsides after broadsides at the massive cliff. Not until day dawned did the deluded commander of the frigate discover his mistake. Then, crestfallen and mortified, he crept away, leaving the rock unscathed and triumphant—Verrill's Companion.

GOVERNMENT FILES BRIEF IN CLAIRE FURNACE CO. CASE

Which Involves the Right of Trade Commission to Require Cost Reports.

CLAIMS DATA NECESSARY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—The case of the Federal Trade Commission against the Claire Furnace Company and several steel and coke companies, involving the right of the commission to require reports on production costs and the sale of goods destined to enter into interstate commerce, will soon be heard by the United States Supreme Court, the brief of the government having been filed.

Twenty-two corporations on June 2, 1920, joined in a suit in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia to enjoin the commission from requiring them to make the reports and from instituting any suits or proceedings to compel compliance with the demand for reports. An injunction was granted by the court, and on appeal the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia affirmed the decree of the Supreme Court. An appeal was then taken to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Counsel for the government assert in the brief that Congress has power to compel the giving of information and production of documents in any inquiry concerning a subject matter over which it has jurisdiction to legislate and that information respecting prices may be required though no power to fix reasonable prices exists. This power, it is claimed, is broader than the power to regulate interstate commerce and extends to ascertaining what, if any, burdens or restraints upon such commerce are threatened and the collection of the information by an administrative body can be authorized by Congress.

Respecting the particular information called for by the commission's questionnaires, the solicitor general states that it concerns interstate commerce itself, or matters so closely related to it as to be necessary to an intelligent report upon conditions existing in such commerce and may be lawfully required because the information is necessary to show whether the law of supply and demand operates, and because such item required relates to subject matter upon which Congress may legislate.

The Department of Justice says that Congress has power to provide for the investigation of corporations and the compulsory making of reports by them, and for the publication of the facts for the purpose of applying the corrective force of public opinion to the practices of corporations; and that Congress has power to compel the giving of information and production of documents to show whether the laws which the commission is charged with enforcing are being violated, and demand for it falls within the vital power of Congress over corporations engaged in interstate commerce. That the commission's action in requiring the information and reports specified in the questionnaires was within the text of the Trade Commission Act, was in harmony with the long interpretation of this and other acts by the government and was in harmony with the congressional interpretation of the act, is the opinion of the government attorneys.

It was stated that 85 per cent of the total output of the complaining corporations is sold in states other than those in which it is produced, and is shipped to the purchasers in interstate commerce. The bulk of the raw materials used by them, it was said, is purchased and transported in interstate commerce to their converting plants. The total amount of the companies' annual sales aggregates in excess of $500,000,000. The court was told that the inquiry in question resulted from the great attention given by the press, the public and various branches of state and national governments to the enormous increase in the cost of the great majority of the necessities of life.

In August, 1919, Congress asked the Federal Trade Commission what it could do touching the then high cost of living, and in response to the question members of the commission appeared before the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and suggested that a thorough inquiry into and publication of the facts respecting production, prices and cost of fuel, steel and several other basic commodities would, in its opinion, be of the greatest value to the country. This suggestion resulted in the inclusion of an item of $160,000 in the Deficiency Appropriation Act of November 4, 1919, for the collection of the information.

VEGETABLE TEA FOR CONSTIPATION

Mothers! Apply Common Sense

THIS is the era of the prevention of disease and sensible people do not wait until sickness has actually come before remedying the trouble. The crowded hospitals everywhere are sad examples of the results of neglect. Be especially watchful of children. Restlessness, lack of normal appetite and feverishness usually indicate constipation. Stop it that instant with a spoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will have prevented real sickness. Mrs. Ida Williamson of 1637 Pine St., Long Beach, Cal., and Mrs. Lou Browley of 211 Ark., never have illness in the family because of their prompt use of Syrup Pepsin.

A Great Family Laxative

It may be difficult to decide just what medicine to use out of the many that are offered, but it would not be if you knew the facts. There are laxatives, cathartics, purgatives and physics, and they vary in their reaction on the system. Naturally, the stronger the medicine the more it shocks the system, so wise parents never give anything but a laxative to children. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild laxative, a vegetable compound of Egyptian seams with pepsin and desirable aromatics with just appreciated that it is now the largest, selling preparation of its kind in the world, over 10 million bottles being used annually. The formula is on every package.

Three Rules of Health

Purchase a bottle of Syrup Pepsin at a drug store and always keep one in the family medicine chest. Give it to anyone from infant to grandparent, for it is safe, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. You can keep a family healthy with just this simple medicine. Give it for constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, biliousness, headaches, colds and other evidence of bowel obstruction. Dr. Caldwell, who was a practicing physician for 47 years and who originated this formula, had three rules of health that he found very effective among his patients and which you can follow with great benefit: Keep the bowels cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open.

MINE CASUALTIES COULD BE REDUCED VERY MATERIALLY

Is Claim of Secretary of Association for Labor Legislation.

BY PROPER SAFEGUARDS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21.—Two-thirds of the fatal and serious accidents in the bituminous coal industry could be prevented by the universal adoption of safety methods already in successful operation in some of the mines in this country and in Great Britain, declared Dr. John B. Andrews, secretary of the American Association for Labor Legislation, in an address at the coal conference of the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

"The public, the consumers of coal, should realize how bad safety conditions are in the bituminous mines and must be aroused to insist that needless hazards be removed," Dr. Andrews said.

"Not only is our actual mine fatality rate more than three times as great as in Great Britain but relatively it is actually increasing," he continued. "Some coal operators have conscientiously put into effect the most approved safety measures but many others, as pointed out by the United States Coal Commission, are leaving safety to chance. Fifteen times within the past twenty-two months the first pages of our newspapers have carried the grim story of the most recent fatal explosion, with touching pictures of the stricken widows and orphans waiting at the pit to claim their dead. In ten years we have killed nearly 25,000 coal miners, 28,243 of whom were at the bituminous mines, and in addition temporary disabilities result in a loss annually of not less than 1,400,000 days of service."

"It is a record of striving for large output with less consideration for safety than for both high dividends and high wages. Officially, it is a record of decentralization administration—of protective state regulations that differ almost as much in character as does that degree of their enforcement from state to state. It is a record as best of tardy adoption of safeguarding years behind engineering knowledge of what can and ought to be done. It is a record of appalling and needless loss of property as well as human lives, which have been predicted to speed, greed, and indifference to the public interest."

Recent investigations by the American Association for Labor Legislation in England and on the continent, according to Dr. Andrews, "completely bear out earlier findings of our own government experts in the Bureau of Mines that the simple, practical and inexpensive precaution of sprinkling the mine with powdered shale is effective in preventing serious coal dust explosions. This safety measure has been in successful operation in a few mines on both continents."

Dr. Andrews declared that there has been widespread interest in the itemized program of prevention of needless coal mine disasters put forward by the Association for Labor Legislation, and that the past year, with the active cooperation of the press, and after consultation with mine operators and engineers, representatives of the miners' organizations, state and federal mine inspectors, and an examination of published records.

At the Theatres

The Paramount

"MAN FROM NEW YORK," showing today and tomorrow at this theatre, presents Fred C. Church in the stellar role. A rich, melodramatic story of the plains of the great west and a tenderfoot's uphill fight to make good, furnishes the basis for this excellent photoplay. The story opens with Bob Tarrant in New York, "fat broke," taking the well known motto of Horace Greeley's advice: "Go west, young man, go west." Bob "jumps" a freight for the west to start life anew. Fate would have it Bob was "kicked off" as the outcast of Mustang when his story is told. Running in to Red Dawson (the bad man of Mustang) the very first day of his arrival, and incidentally also meeting Ruth Crawford, the girl of the plains, Bob decides Mustang is far enough west for him. Then comes a series of events with plots and counterplots, thrilling with action. Mr. Church is well supported by the capable cast of Marie Worley, Elsie Webber, William Jones and Morgan Jones and other well-known players.

The Saison

"THE HUNTRESS," a comedy drama, starring Colleen Moore, is the leading attraction today and tomorrow at this theatre. The picture is a screen adaptation of the famous story of the same title, the author of which is Hubert Footner, the creator of several popular novels which were later filmed. His most remarkable story to be screened, previous to "The Huntress," was "The Far Bringers." Everyone who enjoys clean, plausible and romantic comedy-drama will surely like "The Huntress." The play carries a most unusual and unique theme. It centers about a vivacious, mischievous girl, who has been reared among Indians, and until the dawn of womanhood believed that she was of that race. She learns that she is white and then begins to look about for a white husband. How she finds a white man, kidnaps him and liberally lights to make him her husband, is the basic plot of this highly entertaining picture. Winsome Colleen Moore has one of the most delightful roles of her career in the part of "Bela," the white-Indian girl. Lloyd Hughes plays the leading male role, that of a refined, shy and bashful city youth who is the girl's victim. The cast also includes such screen luminaries as Russell Simpson, Walter Long, Charles

Anderson and Wilfred North. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday Milton Sills will be seen in "The Last Hour."

The Orpheum

"THE EAGLE'S FEATHER," a Metro picture, featuring James Kirkwood, is on view today and tomorrow at this theatre. Those who have read the story will remember the thrilling cattle stampede, the great fight between John Trent and his accusers, the delightful banquet scene, the forest fire and many other incidents which made "The Eagle's Feather" one of the outstanding short stories of the year. All of these have been incorporated with unvarying fidelity and thrilling realism in the screen version. A fine cast, headed by James Kirkwood and Mary Alden, serve to make "The Eagle's Feather" a great entertainment. There are Elsie Webber, Lester Cuneo, William Orlanmond, John Elliott, Charles McHugh and George Siegmann. "The Eagle's Feather" was adapted by Wilfred Dunn and directed by Edward Sloman. Mr. Kirkwood, narrowly escaped death during the taking of the stampede. At the direction of Edward Sloman, Mr. Kirkwood and a score of cowboys began to herd the cattle within four or five minutes when the entire herd suddenly broke and rushed madly in Mr. Kirkwood's direction. Ordinarily a swift horse can keep safely ahead of a dangerous cattle stampede, but Mr. Kirkwood's mount suddenly fell and throw his rider to the ground and straight in, the path of the infuriated onrushing cattle. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week "The Three Ages" featuring Buster Keaton will be shown.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts If Back Pains or Bladder is Irritated.

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day; also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush out the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then feel fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year—Advertisement.

Atlantic City

Splendid and pre-eminent among the great pleasure resorts of the world

Winter days at Atlantic City have a charm peculiarly their own. While the air is keen and invigorating it is tempered and softened by the beneficent influence of the Gulf Stream.

There is a preponderance of outdoor amusements—and the exhilarating salt air is filled with the elements that make for life and vigor.

The Boardwalk—with its great and gorgeous hotels—and shops—and places of amusement—is always the center of interest. There is nothing like it in all the world.

On its broad expanse—by day and by night—is an unending procession of pleasure-seekers and refreshment who have been fascinated by its distinctive character and have found that here is no where else in America to be found a so desirable recreation.

Travel offers no more than with Atlantic City. And no more pleasures can be had in any other city. For the full enjoyment of the pleasures of Atlantic City, the only ideal winter resort, plan your trip through Atlantic City and its many delights.

"Indian Will Rogers" From Sioux Reservation Thrills East; Yanks Try Indian Star

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(Ind.)—John Levi, a full-blooded Arapaho Indian, who, despite his name, is a full-blooded Arapaho Indian, plays football on the Haskell Indian school team, which met the Quantic Mariners Saturday. He is also a baseball star, and will receive a tryout with the Yankees next spring.

Following the victory at Madison Square Garden the East is ringing with the praises of Armstrong Four Bears, a Sioux, of South Dakota, called the "Indian Will Rogers" for his roping tricks. He won the crown of the "warrior" during the war, for "roping" a German machine gun.

Connellsville Drug Co. Declares Money Back if One Bottle Doesn't Make Any Stomach Sufferer Happy.

At last the way has been found to combine Peppin with other corrective stomach agents so that it will do the most good in the shortest possible time. One description of this splendid liquid remedy will remove acute indigestion, gas, heaviness, acidity, belching, heartburn on any upset condition of the stomach to vanish in a few minutes.

But there is more to say about this remarkable remedy—something that will interest thousands of dependent people.

Dure's Mentha Peppin, not only quickly relieves acute stomach distress, but it conquers stubborn indigestion and puts an end to distress, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness and depression which are nearly always caused by chronic disturbance.

Dure's Mentha Peppin is pleasant to take, has a delightful refreshing taste and after it has put your stomach in a clear and healthy condition, you notice how much better you look and feel, for besides correcting stomach disorders this supremely good remedy that Connellsville Drug Co. and druggists everywhere guarantee, is a fine tonic and builds you up and makes you work with vim, eat with relish and sleep soundly.—Advertisement.

KEEPS 65 DOGS IN HIS FLAT

New Yorker Threatened With Jail Unless He Disposes of Them.

Unless Joseph Oiler, forty years old, of 8 Willet street, New York, gets rid of 64 of his 65 dogs in his apartment he will have to go to jail.

Fifteen tenants of the six-story tenement house at the Willet street address in East Market court recently complained of the dogs.

Mrs. Bertha Rubinfeld, who lives on the floor above Oiler and who obtained a subpoena calling Oiler's appearance in court on a charge of disorderly conduct, said her eighty-year-old son, Joseph, was taking singing lessons, but could make no progress as long as Oiler's dogs were in the house.

"Every time the boy begins to sing the dogs join in the chorus," the mother complained.

Oiler promised Magistrate Joseph Basine to get rid of his pets.

Spot Furnace Advances 25 Cents; Market Now Presents Better Strategic Position

No Sales Being Made Under $4.00 Since Clean-Up of Distress Coke.

HEATING SHADE STIFFER

Available Tonnage of All Grades Limited Now that Production and Consumption Have Been Balanced, No Change in Coal; More Iron Sold.

From The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21.—While the coke market is quiet and has relatively poor prospects as to demand it presents a better strategic position as to prices than a week ago. In particular, spot and prompt furnace coke is now squarely quotable at $4.00, while a week ago and indeed for several weeks the market stood at $3.75 to $4.00. There had been, indeed, some sales at less than $3.75.

It may not be much comfort to coke operators that the minimum of the spot furnace coke market has advanced 25 cents in the week but the advance is of decided consequence for it leaves the coke market in the condition of having a firm basis upon which advances can be predicated should general conditions become more favorable.

The disappearance of prices below $4.00 is due to the final cleanup of distress coke. A few stray carloads here and there might be found but even that is doubtful. There is much coke available at less than $4.00, but it is merely coke, not coke that would be accepted today by blast furnaces as regular standard quality. Coke has gone to smelters in the past week at $3.75 but it is coke that would not be accepted by iron blast furnaces, and has been accepted only to a limited extent by furnaces when coke was scarce. Then there is heating coke, quotable at $3.25 to $3.50, and occasionally there is coke that would not be acceptable even as regular heating coke.

While the market range on heating coke is unchanged, prices are on the whole a shade stiffer. Two or three weeks ago $3.25 was the common price and $3.50 the exceptional price. Now $3.25 is rather exceptional and while $3.50 is not usually done the shading begins from that price and is usually only 10 or 15 cents, whereas the average of all transactions in regular heating coke is probably between $3.25 and $3.40.

The decrease week-by-week in merchant coke production have been due, of course, to blast furnaces going out one after another or together. A condition has now been reached in pig iron where it is improbable that many more furnaces, if any, will go out. Very probably additional steel works furnaces will go out in the next month or two, but such furnaces would not be users of coke from the merchant ovens of the Connellsville region.

In other words, it appears now that the shake-out in production and consumption of merchant coke of the Connellsville region has been completed, and that there is now a balance, with no surplus coke being produced.

While $4.00 is the quotable market on furnace coke there is only a limited tonnage to be had at the price. There is enough to cover the demand, for there is hardly any inquiry since furnaces now in operation are covered. It is regarded as certain that no operator would blow in ovens to make $4.00 coke, so that the price will probably go up. On the other hand, should any additional furnaces go out the producer furnishing the coke might possibly shade $4.00 a trifle to keep ovens in operation awaiting better times.

Foundry coke continues in light demand, but prices show great stability, production evidently having been curtailed sufficiently to meet the situation. Furnace coke quotations have not changed for more than a month. The market is now quotable as follows:

Prompt furnace $4.00
Prompt foundry $3.50

The Pittsburgh district coal market shows no material change in the week except for an advance in prices of slack, both steam and gas, of about 15 cents. This is due merely to the winding up of the lake shipping season, following the market of the extra slack that was being produced in connection with shipping of season coal to the lakes. Mine-run and lump prices are no lower as coal production in general is curtailed sufficiently to make up for the disappearance of the lake outlet. Pittsburgh district slack is now $1.00 to $1.35 for steam and $1.15 to $1.40 for gas. Further advances in slack are predicted. Pittsburgh steam mine-run is $1.85 to $2.00 in the spot market, while regular shipments generally carry a price of $2.00. In some other districts prices are lower than for standard Pittsburgh coal.

The pig iron market in general, taking the country as a whole, has much improved in volume of turnover in the past week. Southern, Chicago and Buffalo furnaces have had very fair sized sales, and a common opinion is that at last the turning point in pig iron has been reached, not that prices are likely to advance much if at all, but that declines are over.

In the Pittsburgh-Valley market the news is of still lower prices developed in the past week, without much turnover, but even in this district there are now some predictions that there will be no further declines. Bessemer iron on small sales has declined from $24.50 to $23. Valley, in foundry iron, with $22, Valley, quoted a week ago as the market on small lots, with occasional concessions, purchases of 10,000 tons for December by the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company at $21, Valley, have set the market firmly at that figure. Basic is now quotable generally at the price at which one or two special sales were made recently, the market as a whole now standing as follows, and rather firm at the prices:

Bessemer $20.00
Basic $20.50
Foundry $21.00
Malleable $20.00

These prices are f. o. b. Valley; furnace, freight to Pittsburgh being $1.75.

MILL OPERATION IS TAPERING OFF MORE RAPIDLY THAN IN OCT.

Present Rate Is Between the Average Of 1919-1922 and the High Record Reached Last April.

From The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the steel and iron trade tomorrow as follows:

Steel mill operations have been tapering off somewhat more rapidly since November 1 than they did in October, that month having shown only one-half of one per cent decline in the output rate as compared with September. Greater decreases are to be expected in December, with rather a light operation at the end of the year.

The rate of steel output production at present is about half way between the average rate in the four post-war years 1919 to 1922 inclusive and the record high rate reached last April, a rate higher than it had been thought in most quarters could be attained.

Thus with the conservative feeling that has existed among steel buyers for months past and with the desire to reduce inventories the current rate is really a very high one and should naturally be expected to decline very considerably.

The possibility is now being considered of a mild buying movement in steel beginning next month. While this may seem unlikely, the market revival that occurred last December was quite unexpected in most quarters.

The pipe, tin plate and wire mills are all running very well, with good prospects ahead. In the tin plate sub-stantially full operation is expected to the middle of next year. The leading interest has in fact already begun stocking sheet bars to remove the possibility of a scarcity such as restricted tin plate production in the early months of this year. It is already settled that sheet bars are to be quoted at $42.50 for the first quarter.

P. R. R. Electrify Mountain Sections

Announcement is made that plans for the electrification of Allegheny mountain of the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad are being made. Specifications and estimates are being prepared by the engineers of the eastern division office. Coal is to be used in generating power.

"While no final plans have been adopted for the running of trains by electricity in the mountains from the Conemaugh section to Altoona, it has reached the point of a definite intention to electrify parts of the Allegheny mountain lines on both sides of the watershed, which begins at either Gallitzin or Cresson," an official said.

The official pointed out that it would be cheaper to use bituminous coal in the generation of the electric power than to attempt to utilize whitest mountain streams, because the lines run through the coal fields. It is predicted to erect power plants at the mines, where long-term agreements for the supply of fuel will be required from the operators of the mines.

Effective Date of Car Ruling Postponed

The Interstate Commerce Commission has postponed until January 1 the effective date of its order abolishing the assigned coal car practice. The order was to have become effective December 1. Argument on the rehearing in the case will be heard December 17, 18 and 19.

It is thought that another postponement of the effective date of the order will be made prior to January 1 because of the probability that the commission will not have reached a final decision on the rehearing.

Propose Coal Tax in W. Va.

The Manufacturers' Association of West Virginia has adopted a tax program including a service tax of one per cent on sale value at month of mine on all coal produced in the state. Proceeds to be used for maintenance of state constabulary, miners' hospitals and mine inspection bureau.

Reported Sale of Frick Coal

A report has gained circulation that the Pocahontas Fuel Company has purchased 30,000 acres of undeveloped coal land in Taxwell county, Va., and McDowell county, W. Va., from the H. C. Frick estate for $500 an acre.

Steel Plant at Los Angeles

Negotiations have been completed for the erection of a steel plant at Los Angeles, Calif., to cost $15,000,000.

SCOTSDALE GRID TEAM MINUS STARS FOR DONORA GAME

Nevertheless Boys Are Working Hard to Make Good Showing.

FLOOR SEASON NEARS

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Nov. 23.—Never has a game team of boys practiced than Scottdale High football squad this week. Saturday is scheduled the Scottdale-Donora game at Aviation Park and—while off with a broken collar bone, Dikins with a broken nose in his wrist, Miley with a bruised hip, Reynolds with a wrenched back. This leaves 20 men from which to select from the team and a number of these are not even men who could play on the first team. But nevertheless the boys, with Coach Bullock urging them on, are working hard and expect to make a good showing.

On Thanksgiving, when Latrobe will meet Scottdale here, it is thought that every man will be back on the team. This will be the closing game of the season.

The first week in December workouts will begin for the basketball team. White and English, holdovers from last year, will form the nucleus of this year's team. Beside there are 25 men to select from for this year's team. The new basketball rules aim to make every man on the team a good foul shooter. Up until this year one good foul shooter on the team was all that was necessary, but this year with every man shooting his own fouls, every man must be chosen, not alone for his ability to jump center, to guard or to be a good forward, but all of these with the ability to shoot fouls.

Progress in Roll Call.

With one day of the Red Cross drive over, today and Saturday to follow, the persons soliciting are making rapid progress and it is hoped to break the record with memberships this year. On Saturday morning the high school girls will assist in cleaning up the drive. Those at work now are Mrs. G. E. Huttie, Mrs. Howard Frank, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. Alex Taylor, Miss Luida Kelly, Miss Ruth Haynes, Mrs. Harry Sultzer, Mrs. Howard Miner, Mrs. Fred Hater, Mrs. Charles McIntire, Miss Florence Peterson, Mrs. John Goughart, Miss Nan Merrill, Miss Mabel Soaman, Mrs. Palmer Wall, Mrs. J. Meeting Memorial Meeting.

Plans are being discussed more freely for the Everson, Tyndale and Connelleville memorial at it is thought that Tuesday night's meeting will be a large one with a good representation of people from this district. The meeting will be held in Tyrone Hall at Everson. Every citizen in this district is being urged to be out at the meeting. The time for the meeting has been set at 7:30 o'clock.

First of Series.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, assisted by the Ladies' Auxiliary, gave the first of a series of card parties at their rooms on Pittsburgh street last evening. This was one of the latest affairs ever held here. Eighteen tables of cards were in play. Very nice refreshments were served. Out of town guests were present from Connelleville and Mount Pleasant. The affair was on by Miss Maude Thomas and the gentlemen's prize by Charles Myers.

Not Entirely Alone.

"Yes, your honor," said the aggrieved woman, as she dabbed her eyes. "He neglected me shamefully. Why he never was at home."

"And I suppose you had to spend your evenings all by yourself, with no companionship whatever?"

"Well," she sobbed, "I had two golden."

Terrible Faux Pas.

"What caused the coolness between the De Golds and their country cousin?"

"Why, when she was visiting them she made a terrible blunder by asking if the family crest in the tablecloth was the laundry mark."

Sport Clothes For The Holiday

INCLUDED in these assortments are new coats, purchased on our last trip to New York, and just lately received. New modes in both dress and sport models will be on display tomorrow. Plan to see them.

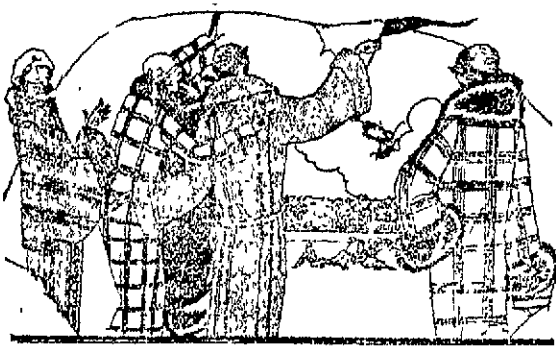

Skirts

Plaid and novelty effects are easily the smartest materials used in winter skirts. Tan and dark brown are the favorite colors. These on display bring a style adapted to the figure of every woman. $6.95-$10.75.

Sweaters

Brushed wool chapple coats show a pleasing new version of the jacquette or come with smart Dutch collar. At $5.95 and $8.95. Coat sweaters are also being shown in all smart colors.

Apparel—Second Floor.

Waists

Charming sweater waists with pretty frill collar are fluffy and neat and come in voile. You'll find them smart to wear and easy to launder. $4.50. Other pretty waists, in dimity, with drawn work, featured at $2.95.

Coats

The newest coats for sportswear surpassing in cleverness anything that has been shown this season. They are gaily plaided of course and new fur trimmings are Jap Fox and Badger. See the showing at $69.50-$75.

A Second Chance— Good Overcoats, Special $33.75

LAST Saturday's wretched weather prevented many a man from coming to see these overcoats. So we have decided to keep them on sale—to offer them again tomorrow—in order that every man may have a chance to share in the really outstanding value that they bring. You will find that they come in all good colors and in a number of practical styles. And that their materials are the kind that take pride in standing up under even the roughest wear. Some even come in the popular shaggy fabrics with the chest-high front pockets so many men like. Don't let anything prevent you from investigating them!

Thanksgiving's First Need Is A Hat!

A GOOD looking suit and a good looking coat look all right but "don't mean anything" when a fellow's hat is shabby. Tomorrow offers you a good opportunity to select a hat in time for Thanksgiving. Favored shapes and shades from Dunlap, Borsalino and Mallory are $1 to $7.

- Velour Hats

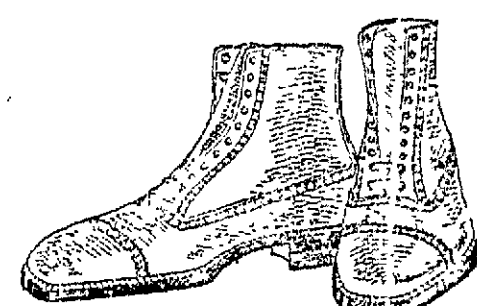

You'll find a velour hat ideal for wear with an overcoat. Good-looking—and they keep their shape. Ready now in black, copper and other wanted colors. $6 to $13.50.

Shoes and Oxfords - A Rare-Find At $8 - $8.50

They're comfortable and they're stylish. They're built in a way that assures long wear. New styles with perforated tip and contrasting stitching—extra weight Goodyear welt soles. In either black or tan. And as fine a value as any man could hope to find. So fine that it will be well worth your while to drop in and try on a pair tomorrow. Shoes are $8.50. Oxfords, $8.

- At $5.50

Shoes and oxfords for men are made of all calfskin leather. With comfortable semi-English toe and Goodyear welt heels. Widths B to E. Both black and tan. Shoes—Main Floor.

New Device Preserves Coffee Value, Freshness and Flavor

The new Coffee container device invented by The Young & Griffin Coffee Company meets a long-sit public want. Women everywhere for years have been looking for a brand of coffee that would keep rich, fresh and fragrant until it is served. Very often coffee has lost all of its freshness and flavor long before it is served.

All coffee consumers know this, and because of the high quality of Franco-American Coffee years have been spent in perfecting the perfect coffee container. Now it has been found. Franco-American Coffee from now on will be packed this new and better way. It ensures you the finest of coffee served with all the original strength and fresh-roasted aroma that has made Franco-American Coffee so popular. The next time you buy coffee get this new container. Franco-American and you will find it to be all that is claimed.

Halt in Coke Restriction Temporary Only At Furnace Plants; Cut Again Last Week

Merchant Ovens Record First Increase Since Week Ended September 8.

378 FURNACE OVENS OUT

Situation Stimulated for Merchants
Is About All to be Said About It:
Some Operators Making Wage Adjustments as Preparedness Measure.

Events of last week proved that the halt in the continued restriction of coke production during the preceding week was, as then suspected, only temporary in character, insofar as furnace operations and the regional tonnage were concerned. As related to merchant operations last week witnessed the first gain in output since the week ended September 8. The net result was, however, a further decrease in the combined production, the total having been 175,700 tons. The falling off of 3,150 tons from the previous week was the difference between the furnace loss of 5,900 tons and the merchant gain of 2,750 tons.

The shift in the production status, whereby the furnace plants dropped from a slight gain during the week of November 10 to a pronounced decrease last week, and the merchants turned the course of their production from a continuing decline into a fairly substantial increase, does not altogether indicate any marked change in the market situation. In the first place, there has not been such a change. True, a few operators have reported slightly better demand, and prices seem to have reached bottom and display a rising tendency, but there is nothing even faintly resembling a rush to place orders for coke. The incursion of so-called distress coke has been completely removed and that has a stimulating effect, which is perhaps about the strongest term that can be used in describing present conditions.

Some of the merchant tonnage included in last week's report in reality belongs to the preceding week, at least two plants having been nominally out of blast during the latter week and not rated as producers. If the tonnage of the two weeks were strictly equalized it would be found that the increase of last week would be less than appears and the decrease in the week of November 10 would also have been less, sufficient change, perhaps, to make the total just about the same for the two weeks.

For this reason, and notwithstanding a gain in the number of active merchant ovens, the tonnage statistics of last week more accurately represent an evening up than they do a definite change in the policy of the merchant operators. There prevails the somewhat clearly defined impression that, if not already here, there is a nearer approach to the time when, instead of watching closely to maintain the balance between production and consumptive demand with delicate nicety, the merchant operators will be more occupied in conditioning their plans for quick enlargement of production in case demand takes on new proportions.

As part of this program of preparedness a number of the smaller producers, and a few that rate as comparatively large, have been making wage scale adjustments in the direction of lower rates for the several classes of employment about a coke plant. In a few instances such modifications in the scale have made it possible to resume or to continue in operation, at least to the extent of preserving plant organization intact. This in itself is highly important in any scheme for holding things in readiness to take advantage of every favoring change in market conditions.

The estimated production of coke during the week ended Saturday, November 17, was 175,700 tons, divided between the two districts as follows: Connellsville, 106,000, a decrease of 3,100 tons; Lower Connellsville, 73,070, an increase of 330 tons, or a net decrease of 3,100 tons, as compared with a net increase of 80 tons during the preceding week.

By interests the production was: Furnace, 113,100, a loss of 5,900 tons; merchant, 62,600, a gain of 2,750 tons, as compared with a gain of 1,800 and a loss of 1,720 tons respectively during the week ended November 10.

There was a net reduction of 378 in the number of ovens in blast, 279 having been blown out by the H. C. Frick Coke Company and a net gain of 100 at merchant plants. The running time at the Frick plants averaged a trifle under five days, 10 plants having run four, 23, five and two, six days. The merchant average was somewhat better.

Production by the two interests and the total compared with the corresponding week in 1922 is shown here-with:

GULBRANSEN The Registering Piano

A Heaping Measure of Pleasure— with the Gulbransen

PICTURE a beautiful Gulbransen in your home, and you playing it!

Picture yourself playing, through the pedals, with the "touch" of a musician!

Picture the keys being pressed down, as in hand playing!

Pressed down, not knocked down. There's one of the secrets of Gulbransen superiority. It removes all suggestion of the mechanical and gives you real, intimate, personally-produced music, full of genuine expression.

Because the Gulbransen is a Registering Piano, registering your exact touch and expression—because it is different from any player-piano you have ever known—because it is so remarkably easy to pedal—your first delight will develop into continued, year-after-year interest.

You'll be a Gulbransen "fan"—you'll be enthusiastic, entertaining, and—mark this statement, proved by the experience of thousands of folks who have Gulbransens—you and your family will get more pleasure out of your Gulbransen than anything you now possess.

DIG UP SEA FISH FOSSILS IN OHIO

Discovery Proves Ocean Once Covered Cleveland.

ANCESTOR OF SHARK FOUND

Remains of fish which attained a length of thirty or forty feet, and which lived and died in the ocean that covered the vicinity of Cleveland, O., thirty or forty million years ago, are being dug up in comparatively large quantities within a few miles of Public Square.

All the fossils are going into the collection of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History. When the work is completed the museum will have one of the largest exhibitions of the Miocene fossils in the world in the possession of these fossils.

Fossils Found in "Cleveland Shale." Announcement of the excavations, which have been in progress ever since last May, and which have been financed by the museum, was made recently by Prof. James E. Hyde, head of the department of geology at Western Reserve university and curator of geology at the museum.

The fossils have been found in the so-called "Cleveland shale," a grayish green sandstone of "Cleveland" and "Cuyahoga shales" in outcrops of rock in creek beds and valleys in the vicinity of the city.

One of the fish, found entire, is a species of shark six feet long from tip of head to tail. A dozen fossils of other varieties of fish, almost all of them entire, also have been uncovered and taken to the museum. One of these is a fish head which is six feet long and which Professor Hyde estimates must have been part of a fish that attained a length of twenty or thirty feet.

Another type of the Arthrodon group, found by the Phipps family, is the Phippsodon (or giant fish). The fish lived and died in what geologists call the Devonian period of the earth's geological history, and was the largest fish that had ever lived upon the face of the earth up to that time—a little matter of 20,000,000 to 40,000,000 years ago.

Another type of the Arthrodon group found by the Phipps family is the Phippsodon (or terrible fish). The Phippsodon failed to survive in the struggle for existence," Professor Hyde said, "and there is nothing living today of which the Phippsodon can be considered the progenitor, by any stretch of the imagination.

The sharklike fossil, however, is unquestionably the remains of the ancestor of the present shark. "The body of the Phippsodon must have been constructed entirely of cartilaginous matter, or some soft tissue, for no remains of the bodies have ever been found. The bodies decayed and became a part of the shale in which the fossils are embedded, but the bony structures of the head remain.

Unable to Protect Self.

"Closely a fish with a head six feet long and a boneless body which, in proportion to the length of the head, must have been twenty or thirty feet long, was poorly prepared to fight for existence. Perhaps the head snapped off too easily. For a fish of this size, it was poorly prepared to withstand the attacks of other animals.

"But all of the fish which, as fossils, we have collected lived and died in the ocean and sank to the bottom. There they were gradually covered by deposits of silt brought down by the rivers. Over them came other deposits of silt, which, under the pressure of the ocean's weight, became sandstone. If the sandstone could be uncovered, I have no doubt that these fossil fish could be found by the acre."

The actual work of digging up the fossils has been in charge of Peter Bunker of Lorain, O., Professor Hyde said. Mr. Bunker, formerly a ship carpenter, has been interested in paleontology since he was a boy and has an almost uncanny ability to detect fossils which escape the attention of others.

"Mr. Bunker, when a boy of five or six, watched his father and Jay Bunker of Lorain hunt for fossils, and became interested," Professor Hyde said. "Later he started collecting fossils for himself, and he has kept it up intermittently all of his life. He discovered that he was able to find them when others were not.

Fossils Sent to Museums.

"The fossils he has found have been in fragments, and he has had to scoop up a handful of the bones at a time. He ties each handful in a separate piece of paper and labels it. All of these paper parcels have been taken to the museum, and Mr. Bunker will locate all of this winter to picking and putting them together. He will soon have for New York to study the most modern methods of fossil preservation in preparation for his winter's work."

The first of the fossil fish were found in the vicinity of Cleveland by John Strong Newberry, a graduate of Western Reserve college at Hudson in the early '40s, who afterward became one of the first directors of the Ohio geological survey.

Collection of the fossil fish began about 1891, and since then specimens have been found at intervals. The present effort of the museum is the first systematic search made, however. Specimens may be seen in the field museum, the American Museum of Natural History in New York and in a few other collections, but all of them came from the vicinity of Cleveland and bear labels stating that they were found in it. Cleveland shale, which is known to geologists throughout the world.

Until the present, however, none of the fossil fish has been preserved in Cleveland, aside from a few fragments in the Western Reserve university museum.

Title of Lord Cromwell Revived After 400 Years

One of the most remarkable stories in the annals of the British peerage has been revived after 400 years. The title of Lord Cromwell, the barony having been revived after being dormant for over 400 years. The origin is the son of the late Lady Cromwell, who claimed descent from the first Lord Cromwell through Lord Cromwell, daughter of the first Lord. The title reverted to two sons of the third Baron who died without issue and the title has been revived since 1871.

HEADLESS HORSEMAN RIDES

Ghost Seen Near Nightly in Sleepy Hollow in Search of Head Lost in Battle.

The graveyard of the old Dutch church, Tarrytown, N. Y., is described by Washington Irving at the beginning of the "Legend of Sleepy Hollow." "On the Tappan Zee there lies a small market town, or rural port known by the name of Tarrytown. Not far from this village there is a little valley which is one of the quietest spots in the world. A small brook glides through it, with just murmurs enough to lull one to repose."

"The enchanted region of Sleepy Hollow is haunted by the apparition of a figure on horseback, who in a mythical battle had lost his head. "Certain of the more authentic historians," continues the author, "allege that the body of the trooper having been buried in the churchyard, the ghost rides forth to the scene of battle in nightly quest of his head, and that the rushing speed with which he sometimes passes along the hollow is owing to his being in a hurry to get back to the churchyard before daybreak."

Just below the bridge flows the brook, and near the church bridge Ichabod Crane had his terrifying encounter with the headless horseman.—Detroit News.

MANY MISHAPS IN GOTHAM

Almost Anything Seems Possible to Occur in New York.

Almost anything is liable to happen in New York. One week recently a man accused of robbery escaped identification by smothering his glass eye; another accomplished the same feat by pulling out his mustache hair by hair while waiting to be taken to court.

The police commissioner announced that the town must be bone dry; several home brew supply houses went out of business because they couldn't stand the competition of cheap beer; soda water stand owners reported a big increase of business whenever sailors come to town. A well-known actress restored a lost pearl to a society woman and escaped publicity by giving the name by which she was called in high school; a taxicab and a handsome cab collided and the horse and its driver escaped injury, but the taxicab driver had to be taken to Bellevue.—Detroit News.

BREAKS ARM WHILE ASLEEP

Tony Also Loses Money While Trying to Reach His Pocket.

Tony Carlos, fifty-one years old, went to bed at No. 1061 Washington street, Boston, in a lodging house, in good health. He awoke next morning with a broken arm. Tony is at City hospital.

According to his own story he slept undisturbed all night, but when he awoke in the morning he could not move his right arm. Also while he was striving to move his right hand in the direction of his trousers pocket somebody got there ahead of him and removed sundry pieces of eight, which were Tony's fortune. Altogether, Tony says it was a tough night. Doctors advanced the theory that Tony rolled on his arm as he slept.

SWALLOWS INVADE CITY

Cape May Puzzled Over Second Flight of Birds.

Old residents of Cape May, N. J., are puzzled over the second flight of white-bellied swallows to the South. The telegraph and telephone wires have been sagging with thousands of the swallows on Madison avenue and Pittsburgh avenue. It was estimated that more than 100,000 were on the wires at one time.

This is said to be the latest flight of the birds in thirty years. Over at Cape May point the trees are overburdened with them.

FARMER RAISES FLOWERS TO GIVE AWAY TO SICK

Michigan Man Commemorates His Life to Growing Poles for Free Distribution to Hospitals.

Believing that the greatest service any person can give to his fellow men is that of spreading cheer and happiness, A. H. Allen of Muskegon, the largest producer of gladioli in western Michigan, has endeavored his life to the raising of flowers for free distribution to hospitals, charitable institutions and public buildings in order that he may extend his message of love and kindness to all who look upon his offerings.

About fifteen years ago Mr. Allen became imbued with the idea of serving humanity. Always the lover of flowers, he decided to use them as his medium for showing his love to others.

The Allen farm has eleven acres devoted to the culture of gladioli. During the flowering season the tract is a riot of every color and color combination conceivable. In all there are thirty-seven varieties of this popular flower, each with its distinctive coloring and its own characteristics.

Mr. Allen, during the flowering season, comes downtown each day with a supply of blossoms, makes his rounds and leaves bouquets at the hospitals and in other places where he believes they will be appreciated.

"The sight of flowers is the greatest tonic for persons who are ill or discouraged that the world has ever produced," Mr. Allen said. "I have proof that flowers do speak a language of gladness. Every morning when I come into Muskegon with an armful of flowers, strangers speak to me on the street. After I have delivered the blossoms and am empty handed no one pays any attention to me. It was the flowers that the strangers spoke to before."

On the Allen farm this year are 120,000 gladioli bulbs in blossom. The grower is at work on several new varieties, several years being required to develop a new species.

LESS SPANISH QUICKSILVER

Large Withdrawals for Sale Made From Warehouses This Year.

Withdrawals for sale of quicksilver from Spanish warehouses in the first seven months of this year exceeded by a considerable margin the number of flasks produced or entered in warehouses during the same period last year. Consul H. A. Boucher, Barcelona, reports to the Department of Commerce that figures supplied by the board of directors of the Mines of Almaden and Arraznave show the withdrawals to have reached 24,800 flasks of 34.5 kilograms each, while the production and entries in warehouses amounted to only 22,500 flasks.

In May, June and July the figures show, there were marked declines in both withdrawals and entries, compared with the first four months of the year. From a high point of 9,000 flasks in March, withdrawals slumped to a low of 400 in June. As for production and entries into warehouses, the highest total, 5,731 flasks was reached in March, and the lowest, 125 flasks, was reached in July. Stocks on hand decreased from 24,394 flasks on Jan. 31 to 17,338 flasks on July 31. Sales values dropped from $270,000 in March (about 14 cents each at current exchange rates) in January to a low of 120,150 pesetas in June. Prices have fallen since the end of June, when Spanish quicksilver was quoted at 240 pesetas a flask, to 207 points. The reduction was made by the board of directors of the concern mentioned.

HORSE PAYS 1,700 TO 1

India Merchant Makes Big Winning in Race.

Mr. Khambhatta, a merchant of Bombay, India, having laid time on his hands, recently wandered out to the races with the idea that he might put down a bet if anything looked good to him.

He saw Klattier in the second race, and the records showed that not a single person had backed him, even for place. Mr. Khambhatta bought a ticket to win, paying 10 rupees. The animal came in one and three-quarter lengths in front.

Mr. Khambhatta was given 17,100 rupees, over 1,700 to one, after the mathematics had spent an hour working out a correct answer to the odds of the totalizer.

PUTS BAN ON ONE-MAN CARS

Oakland, Cal., Resolves to Do Away With Them.

The municipality of Oakland, Cal., has entered upon an avowed campaign to "put the one-man street cars out of business." The city-owned motor buses appeared in front of the city hall with the announcement that they would take passengers anywhere a one-man street car would take them and for one cent less fare. In addition, the ordinance against filthily buses using the main streets was suspended.

The city recently ordered the one-man cars off the street on the ground that they were undesirable.

He Had Stolen Her Heart.

Ellen, the cook of a suspicious nature. She distrusts mankind in general and banks in particular; she never banked her funeral savings. Part of her wages were hoarded in a stocking in some obscure corner of her room. Ellen's "gentleman friend" was the neighborhood butcher, and as the friendship had proved enduring her mistress was not astonished when the girl announced her pending marriage.

"And I want to ask you, mum," said Ellen, "what's the best way to put my money in the bank?"

Her mistress regarded her in astonishment. "Why, Ellen, I thought you didn't believe in bank."

No more I do, mum, replied the girl, but since I'm going to be married next week I kinder feel the money would be safer in the bank than in the house with a stranger man about."

GET IODINE IN SEA FOOD

Increased Consumption of Fish Will Lessen the Thyroid Disease, Doctors Claim.

According to a fisheries service bulletin of the Department of Agriculture, it has long been known that the proper functioning of the thyroid gland in man and animals is conditioned upon the presence of an adequate amount of iodine and that the lack of iodine is associated with disorders such as goiter, cretinism, etc. Iodine usually is administered in some form as a preventive or treatment for thyroid enlargement, but as a general preventive of such trouble in a whole population it is recognized that some more generally applicable means must be found. Physiologists and physicians recently have called attention to the probability that sea foods might constitute an agreeable and convenient source of iodine for the public at large. If so, it would be necessary only to encourage the consumption of sea foods to prevent the thyroid troubles referred to.

In order to supply exact information on this subject an investigation of the iodine content of sea foods has been undertaken in the fisheries products laboratory of the Bureau of Fisheries. The iodine in oysters, clams, lobsters, etc., several important species of food fishes from salt water and fresh water, and those that pass part of their lives in salt water and part in fresh is being determined quantitatively. Dr. Donald K. Treaster is conducting the investigation, which is expected to continue for two or three months. At present the only precise information available on the subject deals with species of fish found in Europe.

Over the Fence is Out. A Scottish farmer was noted for his strength and skill. A young peer, a great pugilistic amateur, had come from London to fight the athletic Scot. The latter was working in an enclosure a little distance from the house when the amateur arrived. His lordship tied his horse to a tree and addressed the farmer thus:

"Friend, I have heard a great deal about you and I have come a long way to see which of us is the better wrestler."

The Scotman, without answering, seized the young man by the middle of his body, pitched him over the fence and returned to his work. When his lordship recovered his breath he stood silent.

"Well," said the farmer "have you anything more to say to me?"

"No," was the reply, "but perhaps you'll be so good as to throw me my horse?"—Edinburgh Scotsman.

Some Block System. A man traveling in a train that had made several abrupt stops and sudden jerks became a bit anxious. There had been numerous accidents on the line of late, so he had been told, and there was cause for fear. Calling the porter aside, he said: "George, is this train safe?"

"Safe as any, suh."

"Is there a block system on the road?"

George's grin extended from ear to ear.

"Block system, suh? Why, boss, we has de greatest block system in de world. Ten miles back we was blocked by a band of hys, six miles back we was blocked by a cow, and I reckon when we gets further south we'll be blocked by an alligator. Block system, suh? Well, I'll say it is!"—Cortez Gentleman.

PAUPER HEIR TO 5 MILLION ESTATE

Heir of Pennsylvania Poor-House to Share Riches.

WAS ONE OF CONTESTANTS

One night recently James Henderson, aged sixty-five, went to bed in the almshouse of the Bloomsburg, Pa., poor district, a homeless pauper. In the morning he woke to find himself a comparatively rich man.

"That's fine—guess I will have to leave here now, but I'll wait until I get the money," he said when informed that as one of the contestants in the will of Mrs. Abigail A. Gelsinger of Danville he would benefit from the settlement of the case out of court.

Henderson did not know the amount he would receive, but said he would be glad of anything.

"I really didn't think much about it," he said. "Of course, they have treated me good here and I won't forget that, but it will be mighty good to have some place of my own to go to and know that I don't have to depend on anybody else for a while, anyway. I don't know just how much I will get, but it will be enough. I haven't got the money yet and I will build a few little places while I am waiting for it. What I do with it will depend on how much there is and I will decide that when the money comes."

Out-Of-Without a Cent.

Henderson, a first cousin, had been cut off without a cent in the will which left an estate valued at $6,000,000, principally to the Gelsinger hospital and the Gelsinger Home for Friendless Women in Danville. With three other cousins, William Fancost of Republic, Ohio; Clara F. Meehl, executive of Calenda Runyon, and Ida Sharpless, administratrix of Henry C. Patterson of Marion, Ohio, he started a contest of the will.

The case had passed through various stages, in each of which the cousins had won a victory.

The amount involved in the settlement was not divulged. Henry M. Hensley, of Riverside, one of the trustees of the Home for Friendless Women, said the settlement would not effect in any way the work of either the home or the hospital.

The contest was brought on the ground that Mrs. Gelsinger was not of sound mind when she made the will and that undue influence had been exerted on her to obtain the money for the charities.

Estates Consists of Coal Lands.

The estate consists largely of coal lands in Kingston, Pa., left to her by her husband, George F. Gelsinger. The Scranton Trust company is executor of the estate and trustee of the hospital and was the principal defendant in the suit.

The will gave $500 each to four nieces: Abigail Gelsinger Sullivan of Lima, Ohio; Abigail Gelsinger Ecomova of Sofia, Bulgaria; Abigail Gelsinger Jacob of Caracas, Porto Rico, and Minnie Gelsinger O'Boyle of Kingston, Pa.; $500 to Mrs. Mary O. Shindel; the income from $10,000 to Catherine and Russell Piggall, niece and nephew, during their lifetime; $10,000 to the ministerial institution fund of the Presbyterian church; $10,000 to the board of missions for freedmen of the Presbyterian church; $5,000 to the Carlisle Indian school and income from $40,000 to Lincoln university of Chester county.

A trust fund was created of the balance, the income to be paid to the Gelsinger hospital and the Gelsinger Home for Friendless Women.

None of these bequests, it is understood, will be affected by the terms of the settlement with the four cousins.

TUNKS TO LOSE OLD MEDALS

Decorations Awarded by Former Governments Barred.

Considerable commotion among the decorated and ribboned crowd of officials and former officials was caused at Constantinople on receipt of an order from Ankara throwing all the old medals into the discard. The order applies to all decorations conferred by former Turkish governments, whether worn by Turks or by foreigners, but does not apply to decorations given by foreign governments.

The only medal authorized by the Kemal administration and the only Turkish decoration that will be recognized hereafter is the Order of Independence, but even that must be worn alone.

The war office at Ankara has decreed that the costume worn by civilian officials at all public functions shall be the frock coat and the corresponding waistcoat and trousers, preferably striped.

Diminishing Death Rate.

The death rate of 1922 was the lowest of any year excepting one in the history of the United States and Canada, according to the statistics of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company. The rate was 8.5 persons in each 1,000 in 1922, while in 1921 the rate was 8.7 persons.—Scientific American.

Old Methods Carry.

Eight to ten billions of francs a year is the total loss due to out-of-date bookkeeping methods, says the Paris government official, says the report of the committee on economy; the report is endorsed by President Millerand.

LABOR UNIONS NOT OF POLITICS, SAYS PRESIDENT FRANKLIN

In a statement issued to the press J. A. Franklin, president of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers declares that labor organizations are not going out of politics. "The reason for this," says President Franklin, "is that information was recently disseminated from Washington to the effect that railroad labor in general and the brotherhoods in particular are planning to abandon their political program. And the reason for it being disseminated is that certain people would like to have it so. They'd like to have labor quit."

"Even if the leaders of organized labor were quitters, this is one thing in history when they wouldn't be likely to quit. It has only been a few weeks since labor participated in one of the greatest triumphs ever registered at the polls. In a great number of states labor contributed to the election of the sort of men it wishes to see in Washington and assured at the same time the staying at home of a large number of gentlemen it prefers to have stay at home. Labor in those elections gave a signal demonstration of its political capacity. Is it likely to quit, under the circumstances?"

"The contrary is true, of course, as little as some of those accustomed to control politics may like it. Labor will be on the job during the coming session of Congress. It will be in politics in its own way—out in the open. It will be in politics to protect rights that already have been written into the law and to urge legislation further improving its own condition. Beyond that it will be found solidly supporting all progressive measures, all measures designed for the good of the whole people. It will give its backing to any sane, constructive proposal that will help the farmers, now desperately in need of help. Labor knows that its interests are identical with those of agriculture and labor will not flinch in the performance of those who in the past have sought to keep a wall of hostility between the mob of the farms and the men of the cities."

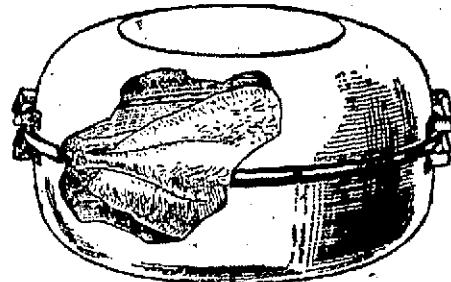

"With a progressive political group in Congress and with the new conference for progressive political action now functioning successfully in a majority of the states, labor is in excellent position politically. It is not inclined to throw away its gains. No, labor is not going out of politics."

Radio Has Its "Week," With Millions of Fans All Over U. S. Observing

NEW YORK—WIZ? will have broadcasted in the city, today, just a minute, please—check! It's the newest national "week" getting into operation—National Radio Week. It's being observed from one end of the country to the other from November 27 to December 1.
 By tuning in while attending to certain light, evening duties, at his home near Boonton, N. J., George Bolts, in the lower picture, above, is hearing what the week's program will be.
 At the other end of the country two country maidens, near Spring Lake, Arrowhead, California, are doing the same thing.

Wages Higher Than Under Government Rail Operation

"Most of the railway labor leaders are in favor of government ownership of railways," says the Railway Age. "They railway employees also are in favor of government ownership—no one knows just how large a part of them. The employees who favor government ownership believe they would be paid higher wages under that policy, principally because wages were advanced under government control in 1918 and 1919 and have been reduced within the last two years under private operation. A very important fact that many of them apparently forget is that the largest single advance ever made was awarded by the Railway Labor Board in 1920 and put into effect by the railways under private operation. "That, the belief of many employees that they would be better paid under government than under private operation probably is a hallucination is indicated by the following facts: Prior to the war the wages paid to railway employees in this country were higher than those paid in any country in the world under government ownership. In this country the wages of railway employees are and always have been, higher than those of government employees. A study of the number and wages of all government employees in the United States—local state and federal—which recently was made and published by the National Industrial Conference Board showed that the average wage of the employee is $1,206 a year. The average wage of the railway employees of this country is now $1,843 a year or about 57 per cent more than that of government employees. "Finally, contrary to a belief which seems to exist widely among railway employees they have been paid higher wages in every year since the railways were returned to private operation than they were under government operation. In 1918 their average wage was $1,419 and in 1919 $1,658. These were the two years throughout which the railways were operated by the government. In 1920 the average wage of railway employees was $1,820. In 1921, $1,865. In 1922, $1,830, and in 1923, as already stated, it is $1,843.

"Whether the wages being paid to railway employees are too high or too low is a matter of opinion. To the employee who has to meet the cost of living in a large industrial center they may seem too low. To the farmer, who is receiving a price for his wheat not much higher than before the war, they may seem too high. At any rate, they are higher than any wages ever paid by the government of this or any other country to any class of employees, railroad or otherwise."

What Automobilists Need Do To Avoid Too Close Contact With State's Motor Patrol

HARRISBURG, Nov. 23.—Pennsylvania's Motor Patrol will be on the road before December 1.

The object of this Patrol is to clear Pennsylvania highways of those drivers who violate the laws of the state and the rules of the road. Motorists who wish to avoid arrest by the new Patrol, it was suggested by the Department of Highways today, should pay particular attention to the following:

Reckless Driving—Reckless driving is defined as driving and operating a motor vehicle so as to create a hazard to life, limb or property. This covers a wide range—from the operation of a car with defective brakes or glaring headlights to cutting across traffic without a warning to cars in the rear; and includes any act or omission calculated to jeopardize the lives or property of others. The Motor Patrol will be particularly watchful for reckless drivers.

Speed—So-called speed maniacs will be picked up, and persons who travel at unreasonable rates on curves or toward the crests of hills.

Headlamps—Cars on which the headlights are out of focus will be stopped and may not proceed until the bulbs are properly focused. The members of the Motor Patrol have received instructions as to focusing of bulbs and will aid the driver in making the adjustment. "One-eyed cars" will not be permitted to operate. The Patrol cannot prevent bulbs from burning out, but motorists, being accustomed to carry spare tires with them, will hereafter be required to carry extra bulbs, so that at all times their headlights and tailamps will be burning.

Obscured Plates—Cars will not be permitted to operate on which the license plates are obscured by bumpers or tire carriers. There are a number of makes of bumpers the general trend of which is to obscure license plates, and the operators will be cautioned by law that they are plainly visible. Plates must be free from dirt. No car will be permitted to operate on which the operator bends the tag so that only four or five of the numerals can be read.

Brakes—From time to time the Motor Patrol will stop automobiles and require a demonstration of brake conditions. If the brakes are not in proper adjustment the driver will be sent to the nearest garage and required to have them put in condition.

Weights—The Motor Patrol will be watchful of those who overload their trucks, and will prosecute drivers found to be carrying 30 pounds in excess of the weight allowed for the various truck classes. The Patrol patrolman; his driver's card will be so punched that thereafter it will be a record against him, and this record will also show on the cards filed at Harrisburg.

The department will be particularly severe on reckless drivers. The law gives the Highway Commissioner power to revoke a license without warning, and cases of glaring recklessness when reported to Harrisburg will be followed immediately by loss of the offender's license.

Sporting World

By JAMES M. DRISCOLL.

Big Game of Season Tomorrow; C. H. S. Meets Greensburg

High Schools of Two Counties Will Clash; Are Age-Old Rivals.

ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH

The "big" game of the Connellsville High School's football season will be played here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Greensburg High, for years the demon squad that ran wild on Coker fields, with possibly the exception of 1916 when the team was held to a 0-0 score, will be the attraction again. In the past two years the visitors have scored more than 125 points in the games here and at Greensburg, but the locals are confident an such total will be accumulated tomorrow.

In fact, Coker fans are going to the game prepared for anything. Peculiar circumstances surround the team this year. Starting off with a record that did not seem to have light enough even to win one game, Coach Lore and Assistant Coach Settle have done wonders and the fans are still guessing as to the ability of the "little wonder" eleven they have turned out. The locals have improved 200 per cent since the game with Washington and have lost only one out of the last four starts.

There have been some strenuous workouts this week and nobody shirked. The boys have as much zeal right now as they did when the season opened and the feeling of friendliness and respect between them and their mentors has increased considerably—that being the big secret of the recent successes.

Spirit is running high in the High School. Yesterday 1,900 fans, bearing the slogan, "Beat Greensburg," were quickly sold and the biggest crowd of students at a game this year will be present tomorrow. The students will assemble at the High School building and march in a body to Fayette Field. The procession will be led by the newly organized High School band which has been rehearsing regularly in order to make an impressive showing. Special cheers, special stunts and a high fever of spirit will prevail in the Orange and Black section tomorrow.

Greensburg, at first regarding the game here as a matter of course, recently realized the Cokers might mean some real opposition and have been doing some hard work this week.

BOXING CARD AT VANDERBILT NEXT WEEK ATTRACTIVE

Fistic fans are beginning to take an interest in the program scheduled for the 23rd day of November at the Vanderbilt Athletic Club hall, according to the crowds turning out to see the contestants training. Pollock, the main card attraction, has been constantly in training and does not aim to let down until the last minute. His program includes one round shadow boxing, three rope skipping, and six or seven rounds sparring with the best in town.

Kid Lester has a best program and does three miles of road work every morning, then rope skipping and shadow boxing, and sparring five or six rounds. Howard and Smith are training every day behind closed doors, not revealing their methods of training. Word has been received from Kid Carpenter that "he's in the best of condition and ready to go."

The card has been completed and the program begins with Jack Smith and Pete Horvath as the curtain raisers in six rounds at 8:20 P. M. sharp. Jimmy Martray of West Side, Connellsville, will meet Young Saffay of South Side in the second bout six rounds. Kid Lester meets Buck Weaver in the semi-final eight rounds. Johnnie Pollock meets Kid Carpenter in the star ten rounds. Britt will referee.

Persons coming from the Connellsville district should take our leaving 7:45 or earlier. From Uniontown, 7 or earlier. From Dawson, 8:35 or earlier. Doors open at 8:30 P. M.

For Football Fans.
Grade 3 of the Immaculate Conception School defeated Grade 7 at football Wednesday evening, 24-6. Touchdowns were: Schilling 2, George, Graham and Shade. Grade 8 would like to arrange games with teams of the 12 to 15 year class. Write Donald George, Hotel Royal.

TORNADOES HAVE REAL GAME HERE: AMBRIDGE COMING

The Connellsville Tornadoes have picked another "thorny rose" in the Ambridge Elks for the Sunday afternoon game. The record of the visitors is a rather impressive one. Meeting Christy Park, the Elks were downed by a 3-0 score, the same tally that defeated Brownsville, when the river town team met the Parkers recently. Ambridge won over Monaca and tied with both the Farrell Cosmo's eleven and Coraopolis. It is reported that a number of the Ambridge players are members of the baseball club of that town and some are those who were one in the line-up of the Connellsville Independents.

Athletic Club Team Wins in Vanderbilt Duckpin Contest

The Vanderbilt Athletic Club bowling team defeated the Vanderbilt Independents three games Wednesday evening. The high score for the match was 163, by Korintios of the visitors.

The score follows:

U. S. Farmer Better Than the Foreigner

By United Press.
CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—American farmers produced individually 2 3-10 as much as British farmers, 2 1-2 times as much as Belgian farmers, 2 1-2 times as much as German farmers, and six times as much as Italian farmers, it was stated by James R. Howard, president of the National Transportation Institute, at a farm slippers conference here.

"The erroneous idea has generally obtained that American farmers were not much good at intensive cultivation," said Howard. "Most people think that the American farmer does not raise nearly so much to the acre as the European farmer, who is supposed to have mysterious methods of scientific fertilization and cropping. The average person would tell you that the European cultivator with his handkerchief plot, every inch labored by hand right up to the fence corner as neat as a flower bed, gets a great deal more out of a given amount of land than American farmers do."

"The exact contrary is the case. Figuring both acreage and yield per acre the American farmer is from two to 10 times more efficient than any other farmer in the world. That is the reason that in the 39 years, from 1890 to 1920, our farm population decreased from 64.6 per cent to 48.6 per cent. In the same period our wheat production increased from 400 million bushels to more than 800 million bushels annually, and our corn production from less than a million and a half bushels to more than three billion bushels."

That Was Different.
O'Halloran rushed up to a cottage shouting: "Lend me a spade! Lend me a spade!"

"What for?" asked the owner of the cabin.

"To dig my friend out of the bog," replied O'Halloran. "He's just fallen in and he's up to his ankles!"

"Up to his ankles?" replied the other. "Then you don't need a spade. I'll lend you a rope."

"Begornah, but a rope's no good," replied the would-be rescuer. "He couldn't catch hold of it!"

"Why not?"

"For several reasons," replied O'Halloran; "but the chief one is that he went in head first."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph

WHERE THE COAL GOES

Many in the bituminous trade are at a loss to reconcile the current light spot demand with the officially reported production of between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 tons a week. This is an old story and often leads to questions being asked as to the accuracy of the government figures, says Seward's Journal.

The weekly tonnage reports have always proved reliable in the past, so there is no reason to doubt their reliability in the present instance. Adding the weekly figures up at the end of the year and comparing the total with the total of the annual tonnages reported by mine inspectors and other officials in the various soft coal producing states, it is invariably found that the difference is only one or two per cent.

Consumers are often misled by the large weekly production figures into believing that the market is being flooded with coal to a greater extent than is actually the case. One thing which they in common with some coal men overlook is that a large percentage of the total output is not sold at all, while another important fraction is marketed in the form of coke and still other tonnage is disposed of at or near the point of production or on contract, so that it does not enter into market calculations except in a restricted way.

The coal that is not sold at all consists of tonnage produced by steel companies, railroads, public utilities and other large consumers who mine all or part of their own requirements, either directly or through subsidiary corporations. About 25 per cent of the total bituminous output comes under this classification, according to the report of the United States Coal Commission.

The railroads use approximately 20 per cent of all the bituminous coal mined in the country. Comparatively few of the carriers have mines of their own—and they supply but a small part of the requirements of the roads controlling them—so that only an insignificant fraction of this tonnage is duplicated in the 25 per cent that is not sold at all. But coal used by the railroads means, of course, just that much tonnage diverted from the commercial market, so that it might be said that 50 per cent or more is mined by consumers and taken by the railroads for their own use.

The public utilities take another large slice of the remaining tonnage and their consumption is not greatly affected by general business conditions. Then there is the tonnage used for making coke. Some of this is included in the 25 per cent of the production mined by the steel companies and other large consumers, but a considerable part of the coke is made by independent producers. The amount of coal used in the manufacture of coke has averaged about 7,000,000 tons a month so far this year.

Then nearly a million tons a week on an average has been going up the lakes since the opening of navigation, or say 4,000,000 tons a month. About a million tons a month is exported. The bulk of this goes to Canada, and some of it is included in the lake shipments. But probably half a million tons or more a month is sent to Canada all-rail or via the St. Lawrence river route and shipped overseas.

Bituminous production from January 1 to October 3, this year, is reported by the United States Geological Survey as 413,000,000 tons, or a little less than 46,000,000 tons a

Now Feels Like New Woman After Years of Sickness

Draco Succeeds Where Other Medicines Fail in Giving Relief

What is this life without good health? A very dreary uninteresting place, as everyone bothered with liver or stomach trouble will agree. But their life is avoidable. There is no reason why any man or woman should suffer from stomach or liver trouble. These vital organs can be made and kept well, as the case of Mrs. Margaret Dressel of Trotter, Pa. proves.

"For the past few years I have been in a rundown condition," says Mrs. Dressel. "My stomach was always out of order. I had no appetite for food. I was very nervous, and my liver was in such a condition that my entire system was perpetually poisoned.

"Medicines and doctors did not seem to do me any good. I started taking Draco. The failure of other medicines only made the success of this medicine all the more marvellous.

"Four bottles of this medicine made a new woman of me. My liver was put in good condition and my stomach stopped bothering me. It is the one medicine that anyone bothered with stomach or liver trouble should take. It is certain to bring relief to everyone else just as it has to me."

Everywhere you go these days you find someone praising Draco, the great amount of good it has done in cases of stomach trouble, sluggish liver, weak kidneys, constipation, catarrh, rheumatism and of a blood builder and reconstructive tonic.

Draco is being specially introduced by Connellsville Drug Company and sold by druggists everywhere. Also for sale by Hoffman's Drug Store in Scottsdale.—Advertisement.

month on the average. This is at the rate of about 10,000,000 tons a week.

But the items enumerated above—including tonnage mined by large consumers, bought by the railroads and public utilities, shipped up the lakes, exported and employed in the manufacture of coke—will amount to at least 6,000,000 tons a week. This leaves only between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 tons a week for the general run of commercial and domestic consumers. And as a large proportion of this moves on contract, it can be seen that the tonnage sold in the open market diminishes down to a rather moderate amount.

VERY SENSITIVE

A famous author and an ambitious young beginner arrived together at a seaside hotel. On the second day of their stay the author took the landlord aside and said: "I want to talk to you about this young friend of mine. He is now in the writing game and earns very little money. As a favor to me I wish you'd make his bill as small as possible."

The landlord, highly gratified at the great man's friendly attitude, promised to do as requested. He was about to go when the author asked: "By the way, don't let my bill be any bigger than his. It would humiliate him. Boys like that are extremely touchy."
